DISCOVER IAEA

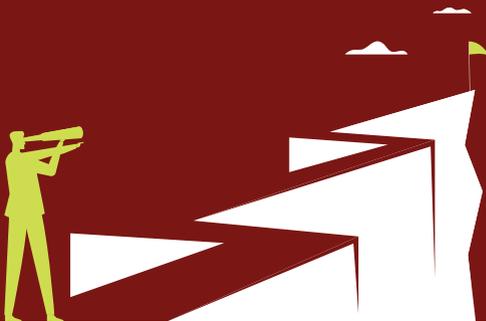

Welcome to the Indian Adult Education Association (IAEA), an institution rooted in history and dedicated to the cause of adult education in India. Founded in 1939, IAEA's origins are a testament to the visionaries who were inspired by the likes of Mahatma Gandhi, Rabindranath Tagore, Dr. Zakir Husain, and other eminent leaders and thinkers. Our journey is intertwined with the evolution of adult education in India, and we invite you to explore our rich heritage and ongoing mission.

PIONEERING STEPS

The 1930s marked a pivotal era when adult education in India gained recognition and responsibility, thanks to the formation of popular ministries in various provinces of British India. The Central Advisory Board of Education (CABE) appointed an Adult Education Committee in 1938, emphasizing the importance of literacy- teacher's training, motivation of adults, and the use of audio-visual media. Provincial Adult Education Associations in Bombay Presidency, South India, and Bengal responded to these recommendations.

THE VISION TAKES SHAPE

However, the absence of a central coordinating body led to the birth of IAEA. Prof. J. B. Raju and Prof. Richardson, active members of the Adult Education Society of Delhi, took the initiative to explore the creation of such an organization. The first All India Adult Education Conference in Delhi in 1938 was instrumental in this endeavor, with Hon'ble Chief Justice Sir Shah Mohamed Sulaiman underscoring the need for a well-prepared, united approach to adult education in India.

FROM VISION TO REALITY

The conference resulted in the formation of a provisional committee, led by Hon'ble Justice Sir Shah Mohamed Sulaiman and Prof. H.B. Richardson. This committee laid the foundation for IAEA, which was officially established on December 2, 1939. The founding members included distinguished educators and leaders like Dr. R. P. Masani, Shri R. N. Chetsingh, Prof. H. B. Richardson, Dr. Amarnath Jha, Shri N. K. Mukherjee, Dr. Zakir Husain, and Shri V. S. Mathur.

A JOURNEY OF IMPACT AND EMPOWERMENT

IAEA was registered under the Societies Registration Act XXI of 1860 (Reg. No. 308) on May 15, 1947. Since then, IAEA has been committed to promoting adult, non-formal, and lifelong education. Our mission centers around ensuring every citizen's access to knowledge, skill and empowerment, with a particular focus on the underprivileged. Its Headquarters at 17-B, Indraprastha Estate, New Delhi, has become a centre of activity for entire adult and lifelong education fraternity. It may be noted that the foundation stone of IAEA's Office was laid by a neoliterate in the presence of none but Pt. Jawaharlal Nehru, the first Prime Minister of India.

OUR AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

IAEA's objectives encompass a wide spectrum, including the spread of knowledge, initiation of adult education activities in collaboration with various organizations, serving as a clearing house for information exchange, cooperating with campaigns for the removal of illiteracy and promotion of civic, economic, and cultural interests, and much more.

A HUB FOR LEARNING AND EXCHANGE

The management of IAEA comprises a General Body, Council, and Executive Committee, each playing a vital role in shaping the organization's strategies and initiatives. Our dedicated staff, both core and non-core, work tirelessly to realize our goals.

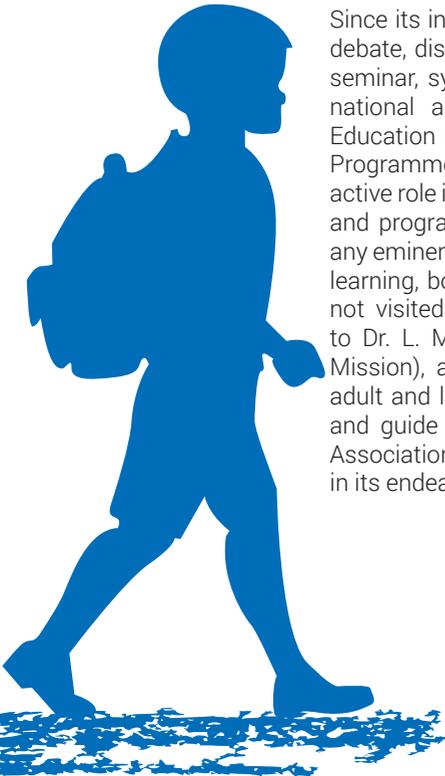

ACTIVITIES THAT MAKE A DIFFERENCE

IAEA is not just an organization; it's a catalyst for change. Our activities include providing professional and academic advice, serving as a clearing house for information dissemination, publishing periodicals and books, organizing conferences, conducting training programs, supporting research, and more.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMMES FOR PROVIDING PROFESSIONAL AND ACADEMIC ADVICE

Since its inception IAEA has groomed itself as a centre for debate, discussion and exploring ideas through organizing seminar, symposium, conferences and workshop at local, national and international levels. From National Adult Education Programme (NAEP, 1978) to New India Literacy Programme (NILP, 2022), IAEA has always played a proactive role in policy formulation, training of the functionaries and programme implementation. Seldom have you found any eminent scholar working in the field of adult and lifelong learning, both at national or international levels, who have not visited IAEA. From Roby Kidd and James A. Draper to Dr. L. Mishra (first Director General, National Literacy Mission), almost all the veterans working in the field of adult and lifelong learning frequently visit IAEA to interact and guide adult education professionals of the day. The Association meticulously engaged itself with most of them in its endeavor towards convergence of ideas.

CLEARING HOUSE FOR INFORMATION DISSEMINATION

IAEA brings out three regular publications which include the Indian Journal of Adult Education, a quarterly published regularly since 1939; Proudh Shiksha, a bilingual biannual published regularly since 1957 and IAEA Newsletter, a quarterly published regularly since 1979. The Indian Journal of Adult Education is a solitary prestigious publication in the country which is in UGC CARE list (No.117) and caters the need of scholars and academicians working in the wider field of development with their focus on adult and lifelong learning. Together these publications are essentially instrumental in collection, classification and dissemination of vital information related to the field of adult and lifelong education.

So far 64 such All India Adult Education conferences have been organized across the length and breadth of the country in collaboration with eminent institutions, universities and non-governmental organizations. The AIAECs organized under the aegis of IAEA have not only brought the adult education fraternity of the country together but also provided a common platform for consultation and advocacy for the cause of eradication of illiteracy and empowerment of women and other disadvantaged sections of the society.

CENTRE FOR IMPARTING TRAINING

At one hand IAEA worked with the leading academicians and institutions so that policymakers at apex level be sensitized and motivated towards establishing departments or centre of adult, continuing and extension education at university level, on the other hand it realized that trained manpower is one of the basic need for the success of any adult education programme. Hence, imparting training to adult education functionaries became an essential component of IAEA's activity. The list of training programmes organized by the Association cover a wide range to cater the need of grassroots level functionaries to those working at national or international levels.
